The MARYLAND GAZETTE.

[XIXth Year.] THURSDAY, June 2, 1763. [Nº. 943.]

The following Original Letter (taken from the London Magazine, for January, 1763,) was sent by the Right Honble. Sir Edward Hawke, to the Duke d'Aiguillon, soon after the glorious 20th of November, 1759.

Royal George, December 28, 1759.

I HAVE the Honour of your Grace's Letter of the 11th Instant. In Answer to which, I beg Leave to acquaint you, that Capt. Ourry has strict Instructions, by my Orders, and that I suppose of others his Most Gracious Majesty's Manifesto, of which your Grace has undoubtedly one a Copy, is a sufficient Proof of his Humanity, and the Tenderness of my Orders, which were not to fire unless he should be fired upon.

Without further Recollection, I need only have Recourse to my Letter to your Grace, of the 29th of November, by my Lord Howe, with Regard to the Hero. My Words are, "I therefore claim their Officers and Men as Prisoners, and expect, from your Grace's known Honour, that they be immediately delivered up to me." The Half and Quarter are not mentioned; for the first I had for an Hire, and the second I looked on as in my own Power to recover. Let me further beg your Grace to look over the Agreement you signed with Lord Howe: Is the Artillery so much as mentioned in it? No. Every Article of it I have strictly observed; except Seamen, released Officers, Soldiers and Militia on the Terms of the Cartel, and sent the Garde Marines ashore on Parole. I could not help being surprised, that no Notice was taken in that Agreement of my Claims of the Hero's Officers and Men; and was answered——that Matter belonged to another Department, not to your Grace; which occasioned my writing to you again upon that Subject. I can only further assure your Grace, that had a Captain of a British Ship of War, under my Command, begged Quarter, and surrendered to the French; and afterwards ran away with the Ship, in open Breach of the Rules of War, I should have immediately delivered up the Ship, with the Commander, to have been treated as the Perfidious of his Honour deserved. The same I should have expected from the Duke d'Aiguillon, if I did not consider him as the Subject of a State, in which the Will of the Monarch constitutes Right and Wrong.

I assure your Grace, upon my Honour, that I never heard of any Memorial to be presented to the Admiralty of England, who have no Concern in Matters of this Kind. By the Bounty of their King, British Seamen are entitled to every Thing surrendered by, and taken from, an Enemy in War. In their Honour, and for their Benefit, I shall endeavour to recover the Hero's Guns, and also those of the Soleil Royal, which were deserted, and left to our Mercy; the Delivery of the Officers and Men, to all that depends at present on the Honour of your Court; the Artillery are within our Reach; one Redargument to make them away being justifiable. I was in Hopes would not have been interrupted; but since your Grace and the Marquis de Brac, have thought fit to fire on my Ships, I shall take as severe a Revenge as I can, along your Coasts, as long as I receive Supplies from Britain.

For I came out near eight Months ago, only furnished with Orders to decide the Fate of the two Nations with M. de Conflans in the open Sea; but when we met, as he did not choose to stay for me, he has thereby changed the Nature of my military Operations, and reduced me to the Necessity (entirely repugnant to my natural Disposition) of burning, Fire and Sword into that Country, from whence your Grace, with forty Battalions under your Command, by the authenticated Instructions of Marshal de Belleisle, went to have spread the most dreadful Calamities of War, in Great-Britain or Ireland. I cannot forbear saying, your Grace could be serious, when you instituted my Enterprise; if even Marriages, and I shall not hereafter be surprised, if, in the Gazette de Cour, I should be accused of acting irregularly in attacking M. de Conflans (after a Chace of 40 Leagues in the open Sea) within your Islands, and on your Coast, and setting Fire to the Soleil Royal, &c.

As an Individual, I honour and respect the Duke d'Aiguillon: As a Commander of a British Squadron against a declared Enemy, I strictly obey the Orders of the Great King, my Master, only following my own Judgment, as Circumstances may alter.

I have the Honour to be, with the most profound Respect and Regard, &c.

Your Grace's most obedient,
And most humble Servant,
EDWARD HAWKE.

MESSINA, December 14.

IN the Night between the 5th and 6th, we had such a Storm of Rain, Hail, Wind, and Lightning, that in less than an Hour the Torrents of Rain became so violent, as to remove Stones Ten hundred Weight, and break down several Dykes and Walls. The Water in many Houses was five Feet high. Seven Persons lost their Lives. Many Gardens and Fields are covered with Earth and Stones to the Height of three or four Feet.

Copenhagen, Feb. 6. A Sort of contagious Distemper prevailing amongst the Garrison of this City, which has carried off Abundance of Men, the King has ordered more commodious and healthy Quarters to be provided for them.

By the last Year's Bills of Mortality, Births, and Marriages, in the Bailywick of Aquebisset in Surrey, it appears that two Women were each delivered of 5 Children at one Time; and another Woman brought forth five Children in one Year only. Among other Computations, their number 150 Married Couples, who have lived together in Virtue and Concord; 70 others who have lived together 50 Years and upwards; 80 Marriages from 40 to 50 Years Standing; and somewhere that has lately been. They have also recorded the following Oddity of a Woman, remarkable for her Piety and Industriousness, who died last Year, aged 78: Her first Husband willfully drowned himself; her second Husband hanged himself in the Mountains; her only Son kindled a Pile of Wood in a Field, and leapt into the Flames; and her Daughter, who was married, flung herself into a River.

Hague, Feb. 25. Private Letters from Stockholm acquaint us, that the Supercargoes appointed to go on board the Ships of those Nations, who have Occasion to make their Complaints, are instructed to enquire, Whether the Commerce carried on with Japan, be profitable or not? Whether it Likewise may not be obtained from the Chinese Court, for carrying on a Trade to the Peninsula of Corea? And Whether, if this can be obtained, it may not prove a Means of sending their Manufactures into the Southern Parts of Tartary?

LONDON, February 7.

Among the many Accusations and merry Pranks played by the Crew of the Active Man of War, who took the Hermione, is the following: Two of the common Sailors at Plymouth, after they had got their Prize Money, one lately deserted themselves, but their Leader alas! one of them bought a sufficient Quantity of rich Brocade Silk to make his temporary Wife a full Sack; and insisted on its being lined with the same, which was done accordingly. The other hired three Post-Chaises to carry him from Plymouth to the Dock, which is about two Miles; in one of them he put his Jack Stick, in the second his Wife, and got into the third himself; and rode in State here-to-fore. Afterwards these two jolly Tars met with one of their Messmates at a Public-House, the Landlord of which not having any Thing they liked for Dinner, and one of them ordered in a Frying-Pan, and Pork it might be done, with which he was furnished, and fell to be enjoyed the following Couplet: When Money's low, the Ring must go. His Order was complied with by his Reluctant, as promised: He then demanded of the Silversmith, what he would return him for the Ring, provided he wanted to dispose of it in a little Time? The Answer was 24s. on which he departed with his Lady; but on Saturday last he came again with the said Woman to the Silversmith, with the same Ring, and desired him to comply with the Agreement that had been made at the Purchase as aforesaid, and begged that he might be paid all in Silver, which, after he had received, with all the Freedom natural to their brave, but too imprudent Set of People, Thus, my dear, (said he, dividing the Money) there are 12 for you, and 12 for myself; I shall go aboard Tomorrow. If I be you do not stay your Children before I come Home again, and have a Mind to be Christened before I come Home again, and have a Mind to be Christened against I return, damn'd if I don't give a good Lashing for you. He then giving his Wife, as he called her, a hearty Squeeze by the Hand, at the Shop Door, each took their different Ways, without any further Ceremony.

March 10. The Eclipse calculated to happen on the 25th of March 1764, is reckoned by some to happen on the 20th of the said Month, at the same Hour, and in Point of Darkness, to be equal to the Eclipse, which happened about 30 Years ago.

His Prussian Majesty, as soon as the several Hostilities are ceased, purposes to make a strict Enquiry into his Affairs; and it is said, that for the future the Count of Finanstein, and not Baron Hertzberg, will be Minister of Berlin will be much more magnificent than ever, in consequence of a Plan for reducing the Expence, without weakening the Strength of the Army.

They write from Hamburg, that their Public and Private Accounts from Warsaw do not at all agree. The former positively affert, that the King is out of Danger, whereas the latter infinuate, that Monsieur is still extremely ill, and that his Son, Prince Clement, is also in a declining Condition.

The moderate Cardinals have at last so far prevailed with the Pope, that it is thought the Difference subsisting between the Holy See, the Crowns of France, Portugal, Naples, and the Republic of Genoa, will be speedily adjusted; to which, it is said, the Interposition of his Sardinian Majesty has not a little contributed.

The Definitive Treaty of Peace is now ratified by all the belligerent Powers; and now let us hope to find, that Publicum Spirit, the glorious Principle of all that is great and good, in Spirit, the glorious Principle of all that is great and good, is not so far from being cherished and encouraged, as to be not so far from being cherished and encouraged, as to be now forgot. Public Rejoicings, to make the natural Love of Peace and Quiet Overflow more, to make the natural Love of Peace and Quiet Overflow more, to make the natural Love of Peace and Reputation fallacious in promoting that noble Principle.

Triumphal Arches, Columns, Temples, Inscriptions, and Triumphal Arches, Columns, Temples, Inscriptions, and the like Monuments of public Services, have ill fostered the like Monuments of public Services, have ill fostered the Times have found Instances to Virtue and Magnanimity. Times have found Instances to Virtue and Magnanimity. and would probably have the same Effect on Society which and would probably have the same Effect on Society which they had on Greece and Rome.

And perhaps a Fund of Infamy would be found a proper and exemplary Punishment in Cases of Capital public Villainies, where the Loss of Freedom, Liberty, or Life, are not inflicted on the Offence; or where the Guilt of the Offence is compensated on the Offence; or where the Guilt of the Offence is compensated by the Greatness of the Offence, or the Nature of his Offence, may deserve Mercy from Justice, or the Nature of his Offence, may deserve Mercy from Justice, or the Nature of the Law.

March 19. Sunday about Noon John Rice, the Bookbinder, was brought by one of his Majesty's Messengers to the Messenger's House, where he pulled under a strong Mohawkstitch before the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, who committed him to the Poultry Compter. He is charged with having printed and published a Libel on the Duke and Dutchess of Cumberland, the Gentlemen of the Bench and Bar, and Clergy. Commissioners of the Navy, and Lord Anson, and Admiral Boscawen. Lordship examined many who were taken up with him till this Day, to enquire of his Affairs; when he was again examined, where Mrs. Rice, Jack, and Peggy, and all their Relations, if he could think of any Thing that might, in any Respect, be of Benefit to the Injured Parties, to commit it to Writing, and deliver it to his Lordship. He confessed that no Person had any Concern with him in the several Pamphlets he stands charged with; and that having wrote and delivered his Papers, before he were taken, he was unable to give his Lordship any Information of his Affairs as he could wish. This was quite unexpected, and answered every Question without Hesitation. He was dressed in a blue Coat, a Bag Wig, and a Gold laced Hat.

Mr. Rice's Goods, Books, &c. were sold by Auction, as follows: Gold Pair of Classic Gratings, by 1. 1 Pair ditto, 6l 1. One Saddle Mare, 24l. One Gelding, 21. 8s. A Chaise and Harness for A Horse, 20l. 1s. A Pair Chaises, 45l. A Wagon Way, 5l.

A few Days ago a Woman about 60yrs, who had been married some Time to an old Man of 80yrs, after Christmas Gossip, having found Words with her Husband, went to an Apothecary's in St. John's-Street, and asked for Twopennyworth of Arsenic. He suspecting that she had no good Design, was ministerly here for some Time, which occasioned him quarry generally. The poor Woman Assisting heavily at the Point of Death, told her Husband what she had done, who went to the Apothecary, and he explained the whole Transaction.

Letters from the County of Tipperary is filled with melancholy Accounts of the Outrages committed by those People called Levellers. They cut out the Tongue, and cut off the Lip of a poor Man at Cahir Conray, and have greatly alarmed several other People in that Neighbourhood. The Lord Justices have ordered their Proclamation, with a Reward of 200l. for discovering any Person concern'd in the above Affair, and have sent down an Independent Company of Horse.

The following is said to be an exact Account of the Loss of Men the brave Admiral during the late War, to the Naval Service only.

The Number of Sailors and Marines employed this War were	184893
Killed in Engagements, and by Accidents	1572
Dead of Diseases and missing	133708
Sailors now remaining, Part of whom are discharged	49613
	184893

Out of 9000 Soldiers employed in reducing the Havannah, not above 1500 of them are now living.

By the above Account, which seems calculated with great Exactness, it appears, that no more than 1572 Sailors and Marines have been killed during this last War, in their different and glorious Engagements against the Enemy; and the amazing Number of those Dead of Diseases and Missing amounts to 133,708; half of which, at least, without Exaggeration, may be supposed to have perished by the Inclemency of the Weather, the Scurvy, or by living on salted Provisions. A most alarming Circumstance! that 132,136 more should die of Diseases, &c. than all the Efforts of our mortal Enemies could destroy in a long Six Years War; and certainly it merits the most serious Consideration of those in Power to preserve the Lives of our Sailors and Soldiers, always a Terror to the Enemies of Great-Britain.

The national Expence of last Year has been stated at 12,655,750l. and of the Year before at 14,619,125l. and these have been justly thought immense Sums. However, several Millions more annually, raised by the Government upon the People, might fit be added to those Accounts.

That the Expence of 1761, as stated in the Ways and Means, — — — — — —	£. 13,619,129
The King's Civil List, not mentioned in those Ways and Means, — — — — —	800,000
The Annuities paid annually to the Public Creditors above — — — — —	3,200,000
The Surplus of the Sinking Fund, supposed above a Million, — — — — —	1,200,000
Sum total	18,819,129

The Expence of 1761, then (exclusive of the long Annuity, that could not be bought up for Three Millions) is above Twenty-six Millions, which is more than One Million Sterling every Fortnight, expended by the Government. The Supplies for 1762, which are likewise purchased with an Annuity, amount by the above Computation to upwards of Twenty-five Millions. The Accounts of the two Years together, exclusive of the Annuities, are Fifty-one Millions; which is more than all the real Revenues of all the other Kingdoms of Europe united.

The public Entry of their Excellencies the Venetian Ambassadors, is put off till after Easter. Their Conduct, which stems quite from Princes, are the greatest that have been seen in Quarters; one is Red and Gold, the second Crimson and Gold, and the third Blue and Silver. The Gold Coach is to be drawn by eight beautiful Horses, and it is believed that this Entry will be the grandest every seen in England. The Master of the Horse to their Excellencies has given Bond for above 1000l. to have the Coaches in readiness before the Entry is made.

On Friday last many officers of Regents Guards, Horse and Grenadiers, with 35 Men belonging to the Duke of Wolfenbuttel's Regiment of Foot, marched from the Tower to the Queen's Chapel, Pimlico, and in their Way passed through the Queen's Guard, where they took up their Quarters for the Night. On Saturday they marched to Hounslow, and on Monday to Staines, where they are to remain till the Arrival of the Hessian Troops, when they are to march to their Quarters.

found the next Day, with her Hull several Feet under Water; the Men to save themselves, took to the Main and Foretop, and were all safely brought on Shore at Margate on Monday last. The People saved nothing but what they had on their Backs, and had nothing to eat all the while they were in that distressed Condition. The Horses were all drowned in the Hold. From this the Report of a Vessel being lost, and only 15 Persons saved, took its Rise.

Last Week a Sailor who had been paid off on board one of the Men of War in Portsmouth Harbour, being in Liquor, swore he would throw his Wages overboard, which amounted to 24 Guineas, and actually did so, in spite of all that his Brother Tars could do to prevent it.

Amidst the Abundance of Tales received from Portsmouth, and other maritime Towns, with regard to the lavish Pranks of Sailors, it is with Pleasure that we communicate an Instance of contrary Behaviour that happened lately at Southampton, in the Conduct of an honest, brave, and fortunate Fellow, who hath been many Years past stationed in the East-Indies, and who by Prize Money, good Economy and Industry, hath found Means to return possessed of upwards of One Thousand Pounds. On Enquiry after his Family, he found that his Father had been dead some Time, and much in Debt; he immediately made himself acquainted with the Creditors of the deceased, invited them to a Public House, entertained them with a handsome and plentiful Supper, and demanded each Person's Accompt, discharged all the Debts, and the Bill of the House, &c. the Whole amounting to more than One Hundred Pounds.

Inverness, March 3. This Day the Earl of Sutherland's Battalion of Highlanders was mustered, review'd, and lodged their Arms in Presence of Lieut. Col. Webberborn of the 63th Regiment. The Regiment was very complete, and made a very fine Appearance; after having lodged their Arms, the Men were thanked by the commanding Officer of the Regiment, for their good Behaviour since they were raised, and received his Majesty's royal Bounty of Ten Shillings each; after which they dispersed according to the Orders, without the least Noise or Disturbance. Since this Regiment has been raised, there has not one Man deserted, and there has never been a Complaint from any Quarters they were in.

NEW-YORK, May 19.

On Tuesday last arrived here a Sloop from Martinico, which brought Letters for several Gentlemens in Town. We hear that a Vessel had just arrived there, that was met at Sea by another Vessel from the East-Indies, bound to England, having Col. Cross on board, who stops the Vessel till he wrote and sent on board her a Letter for General Rufane, Governor of Martinico, giving an Account of the Conquest of the Island of Manilla, by Col. Draper, in November last, where he found Two Millions, some say Two and a Half Millions Sterling in Specie, and that a rich Acapulco Ship had also fallen into his Hands.

The same Day Captain ——— arrived here from the Havannah, which Place he left the Second last. He acquaints us, That the Day before he sailed from thence, an English Officer, that had formerly been a Serjeant, but had obtained a Commission for his Bravery at the Attack of the Moro, was executed there for the Murder of an English Soldier, which was occasioned by Means of a Woman; and that a Spaniard, who had been one of the Murderers of Messrs. Boyd and Read, turned King's Evidence, and discovered the whole Scene; but notwithstanding, he was to be executed the 3d Inst. The Spaniard said there were six concerned, who all fled to the Mountains; and that by the noble Resistance made by Mr. Boyd, who got a Hanger in the Fray, they were almost cut to Pieces before they could finish him. Mr. Read they finished at one Blow, as he was leaning down to draw some Wine out of a Cask for them.

ANNAPOLIS, June 2.

On Thursday last Died at his House at West-River, KENSEY JOHNS, Esq; High Sheriff of this County. He was a tender Husband, affectionate Father, sincere Friend, upright Magistrate, humane Officer, kind Neighbour, and chearful Companion: His Death is sincerely lamented by all his Friends, and the Loss to his Family is truly deplorable, being snatched from them in the very Prime of Life, aged no more than 42 Years.

Their most obedient humble Servant,

DANIEL STEPHENSON.

SEVERAL People who once dealt with me owe small Ballances, which are very troublesome to be continued on the Books from Year to Year; I will therefore be obliged to these People either they will pay off, or come and let me know what they want more Time.

Some few owe more considerably, and deal also at other Stores, whereby they have more Accounts to settle before they can know how their Affairs stand, which takes up their Time; and besides it is giving an Example to lazy People, to get in Debt at different Places more than they can pay, which brings a Charge on the Trade for bad Debts, and thereby hinders Traders from affording such good Terms to those who are Industrious, as such People really deserve. I will therefore be obliged to these unsettled Folks if they will pay their Debts, by Credit with some Merchant, or otherwise, that I may be enabled to oblige my constant good Customers, as much as I desire to do; for it is very hard that indifferent Customers should keep the Use of Money which is wanted by good Customers. RICHARD HENDERSON.

N. B. I expect a fine Cargo of GOODS soon.
